Gazette 50: 261, 1992

Contents Volume 50 (1992)

No. 1

ARTICLES

Chan, J.M., Lee, C.-C. and Lee, P.S.N., Fighting against the odds: Hong Kong journalists in transition 1
Akhavan-Majid, R., Public service broadcasting and the challenge of new technology: A case study of Japan's NHK 21
Heath, C.W., Structural changes in Kenya's broadcasting system: A manifestation of presidential authoritarianism 37
Gonzenbach, W.J., Arant, M.D. and Stevenson, R.L., The world of U.S. network television news: Eighteen years of international and foreign news coverage 53

Contributors to this issue 73
Instructions to authors 75

Nos. 2–3

IAMCR's INTERNATIONAL COMMUNICATION SECTION: SELECTED PAPERS

Editorial 79
Sussman, L.R., The MacBride Movement: old 'New Order' leads to the new 81
Beam, S., Surveying the territory: re-examining MacBride and theories of development 109
Giffard, C.A. and van Horn, C., Inter Press Service and the MacBride Report: heeding the call? 147
Engstrom, J.A., The International Programme for the Development of Communication: a decade of infancy 169
Mahoney, E., Trade and international telecommunications policy 193
Frederick, H.H., Computer communications in Cross-Border Coalition-Building North American NGO Networking against NAFTA 217
Shinar, D. and Stoiciu, G., Media representations of socio-political conflict: the Romanian Revolution and the Gulf War 243